How can we help?

Last week there was a terrible earthquake in central China. We were watching a film when suddenly the television channel stopped the film to tell us the horrible news. The tremors destroyed whole villages and killed many people. In some places they don't have anywhere to sleep! Doctors say they are afraid there will soon be an epidemic of illnesses because there isn't enough clean water to drink.

Our school is having a charity swim next week and we are sending all the money we make to one village where the people lost everything. It makes me very sad and I cry when I think of all those poor children who don't have any toys, clothes or even food and water. We have had earthquakes in my country, too, so we understand how the people there feel.

One Bad Thing after Another

Yesterday was a really bad day. Everything went wrong, and I mean really wrong! I had planned to visit my friend who lives in a town about two hours away by train. We had arranged for her to come to the station and pick me up. Then we would go shopping and Maria, my friend, told me that she had booked a table at a fantastic Italian restaurant that had an amazing view of the sea. It was her birthday and she wanted to spend the day with me.

I had been looking forward to it for ages. The night before, I went to sleep happily and I knew that my alarm clock would go off at seven o'clock and that I would have a lot of time to get ready. That night there was a terrible storm with strong winds and a lot of rain but I didn't mind because I was warm and dry in my bed. The morning came and I woke up. I looked at my watch and saw that it was nine o'clock! I was late! Why hadn't my alarm clock woken me up? The answer, of course, was that because of the storm, the whole area had no electricity. I jumped out of bed, got ready quickly and found a taxi. I had asked Dad to take me to the station, but he had already gone to work. My train was leaving at ten o'clock and we got to the station at a quarter to ten. I had been worried that I would miss the train, but I still had enough time.

I ran into the station and went to the platform. The train wasn't there and there weren't many people waiting. I asked someone what had happened and I found out that a huge tree had fallen onto the train lines during the storm. I decided to call Maria and tell her. I took out my phone and realised that because we hadn't had electricity all night, my phone wasn't charged and I couldn't call anyone. I was furious and upset at the same time! I took a taxi back home and phoned Maria to apologise. I promised I would visit her the following weekend. What bad luck!

Horrible Holidays

Hi Mike,

I have just got back from holiday on an island, but I'm sorry to say that we didn't have a good time.

First of all, the ferry we were on broke down when it stopped at an island on the way. We had to wait for three hours while they were fixing it. We were travelling on deck and it was very hot and we all got sunburnt. If we hadn't left the sun cream in the car, we would have been alright, but we couldn't get to the car because the garage on the ferry was locked.

Secondly, my parents had an argument about whether they should eat the sandwiches we had brought with us or go to the salad bar on the ferry. Mum went to the café and Dad stayed with us on deck and we ate the sandwiches. My six-year-old twin brothers were being really silly and they were driving us all mad, screaming and running about the boat. Dad asked them to be quiet, but they didn't pay any attention and then Dad shouted at them really loudly and I knew we were all in trouble, because he never shouts. Then Mum came back and the twins started crying and she and Dad had another argument. I just turned up the volume on my iPod and pretended I wasn't with them! By the time we arrived, they had made up, so it wasn't serious.

Lastly, when we got to the hotel, the rooms we had booked weren't available and we had to spend the night all together in one horrible small room with no view and no bathroom. I was expecting to find a scorpion or something under the bed, but that never happened. There were just a few ants. You can imagine what that was like!

Anyway, I'll tell you about the rest of our holiday later because there's more bad news!

Love,
Betty

A Day in London

I must tell you about a brilliant day I had recently. It was a Saturday and I was bored and all alone. Suddenly, I decided to go to London. I got some money from the cash machine, bought a ticket and jumped on the train. My friend Adrianna lives there so I called her from my mobile. Luckily, she was available and we arranged to meet at London Zoo. I had been there many times before so I knew which bus to get from the train station.

When I got to the zoo, I bought my ticket and went to find Adrianna. It was more expensive than I had remembered and cost nearly twenty pounds, but the zoo is amazing. Adrianna phoned me and I went to the Elephant House where she was. I remembered how it smells there – it's something you never forget! We spent hours looking at all the animals and I was frightened when we went in the Snake House. I hate snakes!

After a few hours, we were hungry and we decided to leave. We wanted to go to Camden Lock to the market there, which has got loads of stalls that sell everything from food to clothes, jewellery, as well as old furniture, records and CDs. In fact, you can find almost anything you want there. It's not far from the zoo and you can go there by boat on the canal. You don't need to book, you just get on the boat. We took a boat called The London Waterbus, which took us straight to Camden Lock Market, where we spent the rest of the day. But before I knew it, it was time for me to go home so I said goodbye to Adrianna and went back home, tired, but happy.

How much should children help their parents?

Children should spend their free time helping their parents. Most children help their parents in some ways. However people disagree about how much time children should spend helping them and how exactly they should help them.

Helping your parents with housework, for example, has advantages. You learn how to do different things like cleaning, cooking and ironing, and your parents will be very pleased with you. Also, as many parents work all day, they need you to help them. It's very nice for your mum to come home to a tidy house after a hard day's work. You may even be given extra pocket money for big jobs.

Although it is good to help their parents, children have other important things to do, like their homework and studying for exams. If they spend all their free time doing housework or maybe helping with a family restaurant or shop, then they may go to school tired, without being ready for the school day.

On balance, I would say that it's better to decide how much time children are going to spend helping and what it is exactly that they are going to do. This way, children can help and do their own things, too. They might even have time to do some fun things as well as housework and homework.

1 Read the text and write True (T), False (F) or Not Mentioned (NM).

- 1 The writer doesn't agree that children should help at home. F
- 2 The writer always helps his parents. NM

- 3 The writer believes that most children help their parents. T
- 4 The writer doesn't believe that school is important. F
- 5 The writer has a lot of free time. NM

2 Read the text again and write the answers.

- 1 Name two things that are good about helping your parents.
You learn how to do things and parents will be pleased.
- 2 Why do some parents need you to help them?
Because they work all day.
- 3 What other things do children have to do?
They have to do their homework and study for exams.
- 4 What may happen if children work too hard?
They will be tired and won't be ready for school.
- 5 What can be decided to stop this happening?
How much time they will spend helping and what jobs they will do.

A letter of complaint

Dear Mrs Johnson,

I am writing to complain about your Weekend Mystery Tours. My sister and I recently went on one of these tours and we were extremely disappointed.

Firstly, the brochure said that we would be staying in a large room in a beautiful hotel in the city centre. What it didn't say was there would also be another six people also staying in the 'large' room. Also, the hotel in the brochure was beautiful, but it was not the one we stayed in. Ours was an ugly, old building.

Secondly, the Mystery Tour that we had been looking forward to was only an afternoon on an ancient bus going round the sights and old ruins. The only 'mystery' was how I managed not to lose my temper when I realised what was happening. Luckily, we caught sight of a couple of celebrities, but that was the one thing that you had not promised us!

Lastly, the bus driver had arguments with everyone on the bus. He was a terrible driver and drove really dangerously. He never paid any attention to the road because he spent all his time shouting to someone on his mobile. He was a nasty man and worst of all, he didn't apologise even when he nearly killed us all.

All in all, it was a complete disaster and we are asking for a full refund.

Yours sincerely,
Kathryn Carter

1 Read the text and write the answers.

1 What was wrong with the large room?

There were six other people in it.

2 What was the hotel like?

It was old and ugly.

3 How did they travel round the city?

On an old bus.

4 How did the writer feel when she realised what was happening?

She was very angry.

5 Describe something positive that happened.

They saw two celebrities.

6 Did the driver get on well with the passengers?

No, he had arguments with them all.

7 Why didn't he watch where he was going?

Because he was shouting on his phone.

8 Was he a nice man?

No, he was nasty.

9 What was the worst thing about him?

That he didn't apologise when he nearly killed them.

10 What does Kathryn want from the tour company?

A full refund

What a disaster!

Last year at school, there was a party to celebrate the end of year. A lot of children had helped the teachers to get everything ready and we were all really enthusiastic, but nobody could have predicted what happened that night.

We had designed the invitations on the computer and they had all been sent out by email. We were expecting more than two hundred children! The teachers had decorated the gym where the party was going to be. They put up balloons and decorations and little coloured lights. My friends and I had prepared some food – snacks really – and we laid the big table beautifully. There were little pizzas and hot dogs and tiny sandwiches and chocolate cakes and lots of other party food. My best friend's dad had set up the sound system. We had even booked a clown and the local television station said they would send a reporter.

We all went home to get ready and, just as I was nearly there, it started to rain. It got very windy and there was thunder and lightning. This wasn't just an ordinary storm, though. It was more like a terrible hurricane. I ran the rest of the way, although I was completely soaked by the time I got back to school. Lots of people were waiting outside and I realised they couldn't get in. Someone told me that the teacher who had the keys had had an accident because of the storm and couldn't get there. We found some more keys and went in and switched on the lights. Nothing happened. There was no electricity. How would we play music and dance with no electricity? Then I saw my beautiful table. Two cats were on it eating all the food. Someone had left the window open. What else could go wrong? Just then we saw lightning and we heard a huge crash as the windows were smashed. We ran for our lives! Luckily, nobody was injured, but we haven't tried to have another party this year!

1 Read the text and write True (T) or False (F).

- 1 Everybody knew what was going to happen. F
- 2 The invitations were delivered by the postman. F
- 3 The adults had made the gym look beautiful. T
- 4 The writer had ordered food. F

My Favourite Film

When I was a child, my favourite film was The Wizard of Oz, which was made, in 1939. It is about a young girl called Dorothy who lives in a place in America called Kansas. Life is difficult and Dorothy isn't happy. Everything is grey and sad. I remember, as a seven-year old, being very disappointed because the film was in black and white. Dorothy dreams of escaping and going to a better place. In the beginning, she sings a song called Somewhere over the Rainbow.

Dorothy is walking home from school with her dog, Toto, when a tornado hits her village. A tornado, like a hurricane, is very dangerous. It can destroy houses, smash cars and there are often fatalities. Dorothy runs into her house, but the tornado is so strong that her whole house is picked up moved in the air. Dorothy is hit on the head and she falls onto her bed.

When the house lands on the ground, the room is filled with light. She wakes up and opens the front door – she sees a beautiful village with brightly-coloured houses, plants, flowers, and a road made of yellow bricks. The black and white film had become colour! Dorothy tells Toto that she thinks they have travelled over the rainbow and that they're not in Kansas any more. She and Toto come out of the house and discover that they are in a land called Oz.

Dorothy likes Oz and she makes a lot of wonderful friends but she misses her home and all she wants to do is to try and get back there. There is a message for us in the film that 'there is no place like home'. The rest of the film is about her adventures with her friends who try to help her to get back to Kansas.

One day, when I had become an adult, I found a DVD of the film and I bought it, took it home and watched it again. I hadn't seen it for nearly thirty years and I was close to tears of happiness when I saw it again. If you haven't seen The Wizard of Oz, you should try to see it because it is, in one word, magic.

1 Read the text and write the answers.

1 Who is the main character of the film?

(A girl called) Dorothy. _____

2 Who or what is Toto?

Toto is a/her dog. _____

3 In the beginning, what does Dorothy want?

She wants to escape and go to a better place. _____

4 Why was the writer disappointed with the film at first?

Because it was in black and white. _____

5 What happens to the house?

It is picked up by a tornado. _____

6 Where does Dorothy believe she and Toto are?

She thinks they have travelled 'over the rainbow'. _____

7 When she opens the door, what is special about Oz?

It is beautiful and full of colour. _____

8 Why does Dorothy want to go back to Kansas?

Because she misses her home. _____

9 Why did the writer almost cry when she saw the film again?

Because she was very happy. _____

10 How does the writer describe the film?

She says it is magic. _____

My Favourite Restaurant

My favourite restaurant is called Shells and Waves and as you can probably guess, it is by the sea. In fact, it is right on the beach and it is a seafood restaurant. It's very good and very well-known and people travel a long way just to come and eat there.

It is decorated in a very simple way. Most of the tables and chairs are outside and they are made of wood which has been painted light blue and white. At night, there are hundreds of little white lights and with the sea, the stars and the moon it is the most romantic place in the world. It's also brilliant during the day because you can swim and then go and have lunch. It's open all day and you can just have a coffee or a cold drink if you don't want to have a meal.

The people who work there are very friendly. It's owned by Nick and Kathryn and at weekends their three children, Alexis, Marianna and Jimmy, help them. They also have a big brown dog called Chocolate, and everybody loves him. He doesn't help much because, of course, he can't cook or carry plates, but he welcomes the customers and he is very popular and quite famous. When new people come for the first time, they often say, 'Where's Chocolate? We've heard so much about him.'

All the fish is from the sea nearby. A fishing boat goes out every night and whatever they catch is on the menu the following day. You can also have chips and different kinds of salad, but it's very simple. You don't even have to order because they just bring you whatever they have. Nick bakes their own bread, too. I eat there whenever I can and I love just being there. However, I have a little secret which I'll tell you now. The reason I love this place so much is that my name is Alexis, Chocolate is my dog and of course Shells and Waves is my family's place. Come and meet us!

An Interview

Reporter: On tonight's News, we have an interview with the woman who was taken hostage in yesterday's bank robbery. Mrs Peterson, it must have been a terrible experience for you.

Woman: Yes, it was the worst day of my life! I have never been as frightened as I was when I saw the robber's gun.

Reporter: Yes, I can imagine. Start from the beginning and tell us exactly what happened.

Woman: Well, I was in the bank waiting for my turn. The cash machine outside wasn't working and I needed some money to go shopping. If the machine hadn't been broken, I wouldn't have needed to go into the bank at all. Suddenly, a man pushed me so hard that I nearly fell over and stood in front of me. He was carrying a gun and a plastic bag. It was a young woman who was working, and he told her to put all the money she had in a bag or he would shoot her. She was very upset and was close to tears, but she did what he had told her and put the money in the bag. Just then, he looked out of the window and saw that a policeman had arrived. He must have been scared because that was when he took me hostage!

Reporter: How did he do it?

Woman: He went behind me and put one arm round my neck, pulling me in front of him and then with the other hand, he put the gun against my head. I thought I was going to be killed! He said, 'If anyone tries anything clever, the woman will die.' I was speechless with fear, but I wouldn't have said anything anyway.

Reporter: Then what happened?

Woman: He told everyone to lie on the floor and we walked towards the door. He must have been working with someone else because a car was waiting outside. He threw me on the ground, jumped in the car and left. And that's all. I've told the police everything I can remember about him, but he hasn't been captured yet.

Reporter: At least there weren't any fatalities. Were you injured at all, Mrs Peterson?

Woman: No, but I was lucky. The way I was thrown onto the ground I could have had my back broken or something.

Reporter: That's all we have time for. Thank you, Mrs Peterson!

1 Read the dialogue and write the answers.

1 What happened to the woman?

She was taken hostage in a bank robbery.

2 Why had she gone inside the bank?

Because the cash machine was broken.

3 Why did she want to use the cash machine?

To get money to go shopping.

4 What was the robber holding?

A gun and a plastic bag.

5 What did he tell the young woman to do?

To put all the money into the plastic bag.

6 Why did he take Mrs Peterson hostage?

Because he saw a policeman and he was scared.

7 Why couldn't the woman speak?

Because she was too afraid.

8 Have the police caught the robber yet?

No.

9 How many people were killed in the robbery?

None.

10 What might have happened to Mrs Peterson?

She might have been injured/had her back broken (as she felt).

An Interview

Reporter: On tonight's News, we have an interview with the boy who was almost eaten alive by a shark. Billy, it must have been a terrible experience for you.

Billy: Yes, it was the most terrible day of my life! I have never been as scared as I was when the shark's mouth opened and I saw all its teeth.

Reporter: Yes, I can imagine. Start from the beginning and tell us exactly what happened.

Billy: Well, I had gone for a swim in the sea one afternoon when my family was resting at home after lunch.

Reporter: So you were you all by yourself in the sea?

Billy: Yes, I was, but I had done it many times before and so I didn't think that it was dangerous.

Reporter: So what happened?

Billy: I had my mask on and I pretended that I was scuba diving. I had my face in the water and I was looking at all the lovely fish. After some time, I realised that I had swum a long way out into the sea and I was far away from the beach. I turned around and started swimming back but ...

Reporter: What happened, Billy? Go on, please.

Billy: After about five minutes, it started to get very windy and there were some big waves. They kept splashing in my face. It was horrible! Then I saw a black shape that wasn't a wave. It was much bigger and it was coming closer and closer. I realised that it was a huge shark! It came nearer and then it opened its mouth and I knew I was going to be eaten.

Reporter: You are here now, so you weren't eaten by the shark!

Billy: No, just then a group of dolphins appeared from nowhere. They attacked the shark and it swam away. One of the dolphins swam under me and carried me on its back to the beach. If the dolphins hadn't saved me, I am sure I would have been the shark's lunch but I was rescued and here I am!
