Introduction

Fly High Fun Grammar is a series of three grammar books for young learners. It accompanies and complements the Fly High Pupil's Books levels 2–4.

Fly High Fun Grammar books have been designed to enable young learners to study and practise English grammar in a clear, comprehensible and motivating way. In particular, Fly High Fun Grammar:

- familiarises young learners with grammar structures through contexts that relate to both their age and level.
- clarifies key points using comprehensible grammar boxes.
- focuses on exceptions and special points of difficulty, which helps establish a firm knowledge of grammar and builds confidence so that learners can use it independently.

Fly High 4 Fun Grammar

Fly High 4 Fun Grammar consists of:

- sixteen units that clearly explain and thoroughly practise the grammar encountered in Fly High 4 Pupil's Book.
- seven Review lessons which appear regularly throughout the book.
- eight I can do this! tests with exam style tasks.
- a list of irregular verbs for quick reference.

If desired, it's possible for teachers to present the grammar structures in an alternative order to the Fly High 4 Pupil's Book, depending on the specific needs of their classes.

Grammar presentations

The overall approach of Fly High Fun Grammar is built around learning and practising new language. A grammar box explains the structure and clarifies key points. The structure is then practised in exercises which also recycle target vocabulary.

Exercises

Each grammar box is followed by exercises related to the structure covered. The content of the exercises addresses young learners with constant recycling of previously presented vocabulary. These exercises have been carefully constructed to lead learners smoothly through the assimilation process. While initially more controlled, they progressively provide freer practice so as to assist in building learner confidence. An example is usually provided to make the task as clear as possible.

Review lessons

Regularly throughout the book, Fun Grammar Review lessons consolidate the grammar covered through simple exercises. These are CYLET (Cambridge Young Learners English Tests) type exercises that can be done with very little guidance from the teacher. Every Review lesson ends with a special self-assessment section, My English. The children are asked to consolidate what they have achieved with a writing task.

I can do this!

At the end of the book, there are eight I can do this! tests. These tests include numerous CYLET type exercises and revise English grammar in a colourful and motivating way.

Teacher's Guide

The Teacher's Guide consists of:

- a general introduction to Fly High 4 Fun Grammar, with teaching tips designed to assist the teacher in making the most of the material in Fly High 4 Fun Grammar.
- a key to the exercises for every unit and review in Fly High 4 Fun Grammar Pupil's Book.
- fifteen quizzes (corresponding to the units in the Fly High Fun Grammar Pupil's Book), which help to assess the children's progress.
- a key to the quizzes.

Teaching tips

Grammar boxes

The grammar boxes are a useful tool, as they provide necessary information on form and/or function.

- Read through the grammar box along with the class.
- Invite children to give their own examples of the grammatical structure before you list further examples on the board.
- Write the key grammar structure on the board missing out some of the items. For example, write I am – I'm, You are – _____, _____ – He's. Ask the children to complete the missing words.

Exercises

- Clear and simple instructions are given with the first item in each exercise usually done as an example. This renders the exercises suitable for homework. Nevertheless, it's important that children are confident about what they're expected to do. Therefore, it's a good idea to do one or two more items together in class, or go through an item orally first. The exercise can then be set for homework. This will assist any children who, initially found the exercise too difficult, to do it confidently on their own at home.

- Whenever children find an exercise hard, encourage them to ask questions. They can be guided through an exercise or directed towards finding the answer themselves.
- Encourage children to decide for themselves whether answers are correct or not while doing an exercise in class, rather than merely reading out the answer key. This gives the teacher the chance to monitor how well the learners have understood the new concept. While most children should have no trouble producing the correct answers immediately, any confusion will indicate that further practice is required.

Review lessons

The Review lessons give the teacher the chance to monitor children's progress. They're also indicative of which grammar areas might require further practice. Review lessons can be done in class formally or be set as homework, as preparation for a different class test.

Quizzes in Fly High 4 Fun Grammar Teacher's Guide

There are fifteen photocopiable quizzes in Fly High 4 Fun Grammar Teacher's Guide, corresponding to the material covered in Fly High 4 Fun Grammar Pupil's Book. These provide a quick and easy way to evaluate the children's understanding of new structures. The types of exercise are familiar, so that the children will never feel at a loss when doing an activity. Rewarding the children for their effort is a good way to relieve them of test anxiety.
